RECOGNIZING RAMADAN & OBSERVING PRAYER

The June 12th tragedy at Pulse nightclub, targeting LGBTQ people of color, had a devastating effect on LGBTQ and allied communities across the world. On this holy month of Ramadan, we recognize the distinctly painful impact that tragedy had on Muslim communities, particularly those living at the intersection of being LGBTQ and Muslim. We acknowledge the existence of LGBTQ Muslims and that their part in our community makes us stronger. We are grateful for the values of love and peace that Ramadan teaches and see it as an opportunity to unify. As we are faced with increasing instances of hate and bigotry across our country, including cases in Central Florida, we stand strong to our commitment to supporting all marginalized people.

"My vision of Islam is far too great to be denied to anyone. My vision of Islam is a pluralist community where theological disagreements are respected, and difference is celebrated. Where every Muslim is equal, and all are given equal access to the tradition." - Mahdia Lynn

For those observing daily prayer during Ramadan, volunteers are available to escort you to on-site prayer rooms that have been reserved for this purpose.

Ramadan Mubarak (Happy Ramadan) to you and your loved ones.
